your journey

Recovering from or living with chronic pain can seem overwhelming. Having a wellness care team send you timely reminders can help you focus on healing and returning back to life.

EcoAI® keeps you connected to your physician and care team throughout this process to assist you in many ways, including:

- ◆ Understanding your condition and optimizing your health via customized therapy settings
- ◆ Learning what to expect with EcoAI®
- ◆ Offering guidance as you work toward returning to activities of daily living

your progress

Timely education, to-do lists and reminder notifications - Physician-assigned care plans used through the EcoAI® app provide properly timed to-do lists and notifications designed to keep you on track during your return to activities of daily living.

How does EcoAI® work?

EcoAI® is the first FDA-approved, non-drug electroceutical treatment for acute and chronic pain controlled using a smart phone and the NXTSTIM EcoAI® app using AIML™ (Artificial Intelligent Machine Learning) technology.

Remote monitoring through enhanced communication

Encrypted messaging within the app allows you to send videos, pictures and/or text messages to your physician and care team without the need for an appointment.

Telemedicine virtual video visits enable you to interface in real time with your physician and care team on one platform for your physical return to activities of daily living. Telemedicine virtual video visits save you time and expense of commuting to the office or surgery center.

You can also stay in contact with your fellow patients through the digital community feature.

Data collection

Data about your treatment progress, therapy usage and selection is supplied to your physician and care team to help them determine your need for extra direction or follow-up care. During this time, they will also be able to watch and compare data to aid in your recovery process.

your story

Every patient's chronic pain journey is unique. In addition to helpful reminders, progress reports, and support, the EcoAI® app allows you to rate and share your satisfaction with your progress in real time.
